Hansar Samui Employs Graduate on Completion of Training Scholarship

On successful completion of her one year training scholarship at Hansar Samui, Ms. Supatra Pimalai (Khun Am) will take up her new role as a Spa Therapist on 1 May 2015.

During her scholarship, Khun Am received comprehensive training in a year-long syllabus consisting of theoretical and practical studies with intensive on the job training. Khun Am has learned various areas of the hotel operation including food and beverage service and production, front office, housekeeping, finance, human resources and spa operations. She also undertook a 150 hour Thai Traditional Massage Course with the Thai Traditional Medical Service Society which was paid for by the Hotel as part of her scholarship. During her scholarship period Khun Am had one on one mentoring/coaching with the hotel's management team.

Based on her appraisal and other related assessments and personal interest, she has decided to take up a vacancy in the hotel's award-winning LUXSA Spa.

The scholarship was provided free of charge and was introduced as part of the hotel's extensive CSR program.

Hansar Samui's vision in introducing the scholarship program, in addition to continue to being actively involved with the local community, was to provide immediate and relevant support by producing vocational graduates who are ready to participate locally in the global marketplace, with a competitive advantage.

The next scholarship training program will commence on in the next two months. Hansar Samui is currently identifying the next scholarship candidate.
